

ST JAMES'S
LONDON

Spring/Summer 2013
A selection from St James's

James wears a black fedora by Lock & Co, grey double-breasted suit by DAKS and black derby shoes by JM Weston

There is no inevitability with the seasons in England. Winter and spring battle through the early months of the year, with an arctic March abruptly replaced by a balmy April, playing with the hopes and fears of the Great British public and their earnest prayers for a good summer.

The seasons in fashion, however, wait for no weatherman. Like a break in showers, the rails of St James's light up with crisp white shirts between the rows of dark grey suits. And having teased us with knee-length shorts and pared-down, simple layering back in the spring/summer shows of September, it is finally time to spring clean your wardrobe and make way for the new.

For this season's selection, we bring you the best of spring/summer in St James's.
